

The Journal of the John Dewey Society for the Study of Education and Culture

Education and Culture, published twice yearly by Purdue University Press, takes an integrated view of philosophical, historical, and sociological issues in education. Submissions of Dewey scholarship, as well as work inspired by Dewey's many interests, are welcome. JDS members receive the journal as part of their membership in the society.

Submission guidelines

E&C publishes critical essays, research studies, essay and book reviews, and “rejoinder” essays. Recommended lengths vary for critical essays, research studies, or essay reviews (7500 words); book reviews (1000–2000 words); and commentaries or rejoinders to published pieces (800 words). Alternative or imaginative submissions, such as poetry, creative nonfiction, and narrative, will be considered; please consult the editor prior to submission.

Submit manuscripts to the journal’s website:

<http://docs.lib.purdue.edu/eandc/>

Manuscripts should conform to APA or Chicago style. There should be no author identifiers in the manuscript file, as the review process is anonymous. Most editorial decisions will be rendered within 4 months. Prospective authors are encouraged to contact the editor (rud@purdue.edu) with any questions.

The John Dewey Society for the Study of Education and Culture

Founded in 1935, the John Dewey Society exists to keep alive John Dewey's commitment to the use of critical and reflective intelligence in the search for solutions to crucial problems in education and culture. We subscribe to no doctrine, but in the spirit of Dewey, we welcome controversy, respect dissent, and encourage the responsible discussions of issues of special concern to educators. We also promote open-minded, critical reconsiderations of Dewey's influential ideas about democracy, education, and philosophy.

Members receive announcements, requests for papers and reports of Society activities; copies of Insights and Education and Culture, both occasional monographs written by and for members; and book-length publications of the annual John Dewey Lecture. We meet and provide a program of papers, symposia, and round tables at the American Educational Research Association and offer the John Dewey Memorial Lecture on topical issues at the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development. A subscription to Educational Theory is available at reduced rates. For more information or to become a member, see <http://johndeweyociety.org/member.php>.
